

Career Development Cell:

First year engineering is the base of all the engineering fields and a key to have a grand career. Amrutvahini College of Engineering proved its best performance via placements under Career Development Cell (CDC). The cell organizes various awareness programs for students to build a professional and career oriented approach by training through various seminars, webinars, and guest lecture for first year students.

Photographs of Guest Lecture for First Year Engineering Students on Career Development.